Absentee ballot voting encouraged

Town Council elections May 5

Three current Councilmembers are running for mayor, and seven newcomers are running for three Council positions in the Town's May 5 Town Council elections. Qualified voters who live within Town of Vienna limits may cast their ballots from 6 am-7 pm at the Vienna Community Center. Photo identification will be required.

Voters may cast one vote for mayor and three for Councilmembers. See page 4 for information about the candidates.

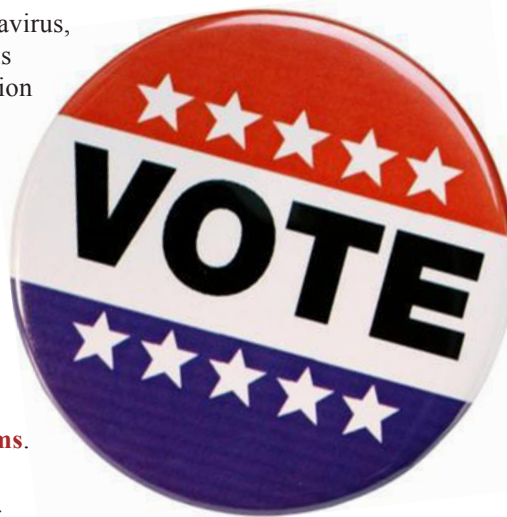

For additional information about voting and elections, visit fairfaxcounty.gov/elections.

Here are some important dates related to this election:

- April 13: Voter registration deadline to participate in this election
- April 28: Deadline (by 5 pm) to request an absentee ballot by mail
- May 2: Final day to vote absentee in person at the Fairfax County Government Center

Despite concerns related to the coronavirus, the Fairfax County Office of Elections is mandated, at this time, to hold the election as scheduled – and will adopt social distancing strategies as appropriate. If you're concerned about your health related to the coronavirus, you can vote by absentee ballot via mail in the May 5 Town elections using reason code 2A. Absentee ballot application forms are available in the kiosk at the front of Town Hall. To request an absentee ballot online, visit fairfaxcounty.gov/elections/voter-forms. Voters also may call Town Hall at 703-255-6304 to request an application.

See the May issue of Vienna Voice or the Town's website and social media for updated information related to the Town's May 5 elections. 🗳

Coronavirus concerns bring cancellations and closings

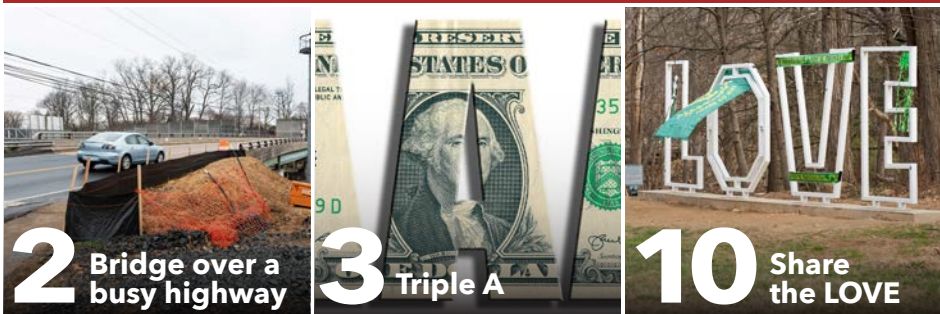

As this newsletter went to press at the end of March, impacts from efforts to mitigate the spread of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) were changing the rhythm of daily life in Vienna – and around the globe. To help protect the community and its employees, the Town of Vienna has canceled all board and commission meetings as well as parks and recreation programs and classes and closed Town Hall and other facilities to the public, except by appointment only, through at least April 12. Additional changes may have been implemented since this newsletter went to press; be sure to check viennava.gov/coronavirus for up-to-date information.

Regarding upcoming scheduled events (after April 12) that are highlighted throughout this newsletter, please be sure to check the calendar on the Town's homepage, viennava.gov, as well as Town social media channels to ensure that these events are indeed occurring as scheduled; further cancellations may be necessary.

aren't working out as planned (e.g., there's a water main break or a road has been closed). If you don't already receive these alerts, sign up at viennava.gov/alerts.

The impact of social distancing and other mitigating strategies is costly, especially for small businesses. The Town has created a resource page at viennava.gov/covidbizresources that includes information about financing, webinars, and technical assistance. Be sure to continue to support Town of Vienna businesses by shopping local, ordering pick-up or delivery from Vienna restaurants, and visiting local retailers online to purchase goods and services.

During this unprecedented time, the Town of Vienna remains committed to maintaining continuous operations and providing high-quality essential services, such as water and sewer, police, waste disposal, and permitting. The Town's top priority – other than the safety of the community and employees – is to ensure that these services remain uninterrupted. 📞

Cedar Lane bridge expected to close six months beginning in May for I-66 construction

Sometimes it's better to rip the Band-Aid off – to deal with sharp, short-term pain rather than prolonged irritation. That's the thinking behind the Transform 66 – Outside the Beltway project team's recommendation to completely close the Cedar Lane bridge over the highway for six months beginning around May 15. The rebuilt bridge is expected to reopen around Thanksgiving.

The proposal to demolish and rebuild the bridge over a six-month period, which takes advantage of the planned shutdown of Metro orange line platforms this summer, had not officially been adopted at the time this newsletter went to print. However, the six-month option – as opposed to a 28-month, three-phase option that would leave two narrowed lanes on the bridge open during peak periods only – was being strongly recommended to the Virginia Department of Transportation, which is working with partners to mitigate impact on local jurisdictions and adjacent traffic flow.

In order to reconstruct the bridge to span the expanded highway lanes that will result from the Transform 66 project, Cedar Lane will be closed from Cottage Street to Hilltop Road.

Reaffirmed AAA bond rating helps Town score low interest rate, premium in bond issuance

The Town of Vienna issued $34.5 million in general obligation public improvement bonds last month, accepting a bid from J.P. Morgan Securities that included an interest rate of 1.86% and a $3.1 million premium. The Town typically issues bonds every two years to fund capital improvement projects and repays the bond funds using only meals tax revenue and water and sewer fees.

"We're really excited to have received such an excellent interest rate," says Finance Director Marion Serfass. "That exceptional rate of 1.86% is a testament to the Town's AAA bond rating and sound fiscal policies as well as current market conditions. Obviously, investors find the Town of Vienna a safe, conservative investment."

Premiums are provided by investment firms in order to make their offers more attractive, and Vienna's premium does not require repayment.

Noting the Town's strong economy and strong management and good financial policies and practices, S&P Global Ratings and Moody's reaffirmed the Town's AAA/Aaa bond rating and stable outlook in February. These ratings are the highest available and have been maintained by the Town of Vienna since 2010.

S&P noted the Town's very strong budgetary flexibility and liquidity, modest deficits, adherence to fund balance policy, and conservative budgeting practices.

In its press release, Moody's stated: "The Aaa rating reflects the Town's sizeable and growing tax base that benefits from its proximity to the District of Columbia..., above average resident wealth levels, a strong reserve and liquidity position supported by conservative fiscal management, and manageable debt and pension burdens."

These 2020 bonds will fund construction of a new police station, anticipated property acquisitions, potential public parking facility, and parks master plan as well as stormwater improvements and water and sewer infrastructure improvements. The Town anticipates breaking ground on the new police facility late this year. 📍

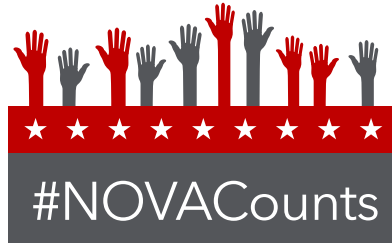

Town counting on Vienna residents to respond to 2020 Census

The Town of Vienna has a tendency to overachieve – and that's one of the things we love about the community. Consider this recent tweet from the Northern Virginia Regional Commission in reference to responses to the U.S. Census:

"...@TownofViennaVA had the best self-response rate in region in 2010. Who will be the best in 2020?"

Another decade, another Census. Households should have received invitations along with instructions to respond to the 2020 U.S. Census March 12-20. Residents may respond to the Census online, by phone, or by mail. The Town encourages residents to take a few minutes to respond to the Census invitation, if you haven't done so already. We'd love to boast that once again in 2020 the Town of Vienna had the best response rate!

If a household does not respond to the 2020 Census, a census-taker will follow up in person to collect responses; this is scheduled to occur between May and July. For more information, visit 2020census.gov. 📍

Town takes on tree inventory

The Town of Vienna requests residents' assistance in keeping Vienna's tree species and ecosystem as balanced and healthy as possible – and that will require knowing what's rooted in the ground.

Pushing the bounds of etiquette, the Town would like to invite itself – or rather encourage residents to invite the Town – to conduct tree inspections on their lots in order to build a cross-section inventory of the Town's trees, including the variety of species and tree age.

"We don't have a lot of data concerning the range of different tree species throughout Town on residential lots," says Urban Arborist Alex Shy. "We have to take a guess based solely on those trees on Town property. So we'd really appreciate residents' assistance in ensuring that Vienna has exemplary biodiversity and good-standing tree health."

As a bonus to collecting tree data, the Town will then be able to more accurately identify which tree takes the crown as Vienna's oldest.

To arrange for a tree inspection, email one of the Town's arborists at alex.shy@viennava.gov or glawrence@viennava.gov. 📍

Get to know the candidates

Candidates for mayor and Town Council have provided a brief biography/statement. The Town Council election is Tuesday, May 5. Only Town of Vienna residents who are registered to vote may cast their ballot from 6 am-7 pm at the Vienna Community Center. See page one of this newsletter for information about voting via absentee ballot.

Linda Colbert
Candidate for Mayor

Thank you for electing me to serve on the Vienna Town Council for the last six years. It has been an honor. I have enjoyed helping residents and working to make improvements for our Town. Growing up in Vienna with parents who also served our Town taught me about the importance of giving back and making Vienna a better place for all. Today, we have the opportunity to shape the growth of our Town, to improve our quality of life, and to preserve our history and all that makes Vienna so unique. We need leadership that looks to its future as well as preserves its past.

I am running for mayor to make Vienna work better for you. I will advocate for the needs of Vienna residents both locally and regionally. I will listen to and engage residents to help create a balanced, economically feasible plan for our main street that is walkable and vibrant. I will improve communication between the Town and its residents both by providing easily accessible information and upgrading how the Town receives feedback from the community when making decisions. I will continue to work with Fairfax County to ensure that Vienna's voice is heard and that the necessary infrastructure is put in place at Tysons to reduce the impact on Vienna.

Our Town should be a welcoming community where people of all ages want to live, shop, walk, bike, and drive safely. I will look for ways to make improvements and to offer amenities and housing options for all. We must preserve and increase green space and trees, and I will look for sustainable ways to ensure the health and welfare of our environment and community.

Only by working together as a community can we make these things happen. Vienna is fortunate to have such an engaged and involved community, and I have had the privilege to serve alongside many of you in a plethora of roles. I grew up in Vienna and have raised my own daughters here with my husband and I've taught many of you and your children – I can't imagine a better place to call home. I want you, too, to have the best experience living in Vienna and making it your home.

I love Vienna and am excited to give my time and energy to make our future what we want it to be.

Pasha Majdi
Candidate for Mayor

Vienna is my hometown. I grew up playing VYS and VYI as a kid at Louise Archer, and now I'm raising my family here.

Six years ago, I ran for Council to protect Vienna's small-town feel. I was the one dissenting vote against rezoning Maple Avenue (aka the MAC) because I understood the risks.

This year, I'm running for mayor to protect our small-town feel in our residential neighborhoods. The Town is hiring a consultant to review all zoning, including your residential neighborhood. On the table: building height changes, lot coverage changes, transitional zone housing, lot sizes, setbacks, secondary dwelling units, and duplex/triplex allowances. Just like the Maple Avenue rezoning, I was the only dissenting vote against the residential zoning rewrite because I understood the risks.

Vienna needs a mayor who understands risks in advance, not someone who votes with the crowd.

As mayor, I will focus on quality of life for residents. We need to get better, not bigger. That's what keeping our "small-town feel" is all about. Here is my four-point plan (see pashaforvienna.org and fvfc2020.org):

1. Slow down cut-through traffic, make residential streets safe for children
Add sidewalks, crosswalks, and speed bumps and use street design to limit the impact of cut-through traffic while keeping trees.

Howard Springsteen

Candidate for Mayor

It has been a privilege to serve you. Since 2009, I have been on Town Council. I have been a homeowner in Vienna since 1997, residing on Upham Place NW with my wife, son, and daughter.

My community service activities include leadership positions in the Volunteer Fire Department, Madison Crew Club, Boy Scouts, and Vienna Presbyterian Church.

My service to Vienna is honed by professional experience, including oversight of construction projects, contracting, procurement, coalition-building, and budgeting. My commitment to public service has shaped my professional life. I hold a master's degree in public administration from New York University. I have been employed for 29 years by Fairfax County as a logistics manager and have previously worked with health projects in developing countries, as a procurement officer for the United Nations High Commission for Refugees, and as a Peace Corps volunteer in Liberia.

I am proud of my reputation for being accessible, demanding accountability and transparency, and providing strong stewardship of your tax dollars and community. As your mayor, I will continue to have the same "roll up my sleeves," "get things done," "common sense" management style that I've had as a Councilmember for the past 11 years.

As mayor, I shall remain committed to:

- Managed Growth – continued and consistent support for managed growth and low-density zoning in residential neighborhoods and clear opposition to buildings that are out of scale or too dense for Vienna's small-town character
- Responsible Fiscal Management – balancing strong oversight of budget and financial management (including strong reserves, manageable debt, and recurrent expenditures) while supporting necessary high-quality services and recreational programs for our residents
- Advocacy for Citizens – on key issues such as sidewalks, traffic-calming, parking, pedestrian and bike safety measures, and traffic flow
- Improved Infrastructure – including actions to address Vienna's aging water and sewer system, traffic patterns, and safe walkability
- Strong Partnership – with Fairfax government officials, which has resulted in county funds for fire station renovations, stream restoration, continuation of sidewalks from Town to county property to create safe routes to school, and the waiving of building and inspection fees for community center and police station construction
- Transparency and Accountability – to keep citizens informed and deliver services in a responsive and efficient manner.

For more information, visit "Howard Springsteen for Vienna" on Facebook or SpringsteenForVienna.com. I look forward to the honor of your vote for mayor and serving the Vienna community.

2. Build parks and green spaces throughout Town

Create an 8-acre park on Beulah Road and maintain leaf pick-up and mulch delivery services. Add parks throughout Town. Establish tree conservation policy for the Town.

3. Protect residential neighborhoods from rezoning risks

Keep our distinctive residential zoning. Do not allow or incentivize larger houses. No more high-density, luxury housing projects. Support affordable housing that is actually affordable (not $900,000 townhouses).

4. Thoughtful planning for Maple Avenue

Plan ahead for traffic, don't dump cars on residential neighborhoods. Plan ahead for schools, don't add hundreds of students and let Fairfax County Public Schools put our kids in trailers. Attract new businesses, not 150-unit apartment buildings. Rewrite the code for the commercial sector to make investment in small-town, low-density, low-height redevelopment easy and predictable.

Our family has four generations in Vienna because we love this Town and everything it stands for. I'm running for mayor because I want to protect Vienna's small-town feel, in our residential neighborhoods and on Maple Avenue. If you want a mayor who understands the risks and is looking out for you, vote Pasha on May 5.

Chuck Anderson

Candidate for Council

You have a right to know who I am – including where I come from and where I stand. I was born in West Virginia. After my father died in a mine explosion, mom moved to rural Blissfield, Michigan, where I was raised.

I am a graduate of Williams College and Oxford University. My wife, Laura, and I moved to Vienna in 1997 and raised two children. My day job involves applying economics, accounting, law, and data mining to solve complex problems. I am a cofounder of Capital Trade Incorporated, a premier consulting firm in the field of analysis related to international trade issues.

From 2008 to 2014, I served on the Vienna Planning Commission, including serving a term as chair. I also have served on the Malcolm-Windover Heights Civic Association, Windover Heights Board of Review, and have been active in Boy Scouts and various church bodies.

Our Town is a jewel in the greater Washington area, with a tradition of quality self-government, built on consensus. I pledge to work to recapture this communal spirit. Traffic and development are our greatest challenges. We should encourage commercial redevelopment, but at a density no greater than our schools, roads, and infrastructure can support. Any redevelopment must also preserve our vital retail core and be consistent with Vienna's small-town ethos. Because tax revenues will not increase indefinitely, we need to keep our budget pencils sharp.

Finally, good government is not just about the mundane issues (although these are important). We should aspire to do "big things" that can be bequeathed to future generations. My aspiration is for a bike/pedestrian bridge across Maple Avenue. Nothing would help alleviate traffic congestion more while knitting our community together. Let's build bridges to unite Vienna, not walls of over-development to divide us.

Roy Baldwin

Candidate for Council

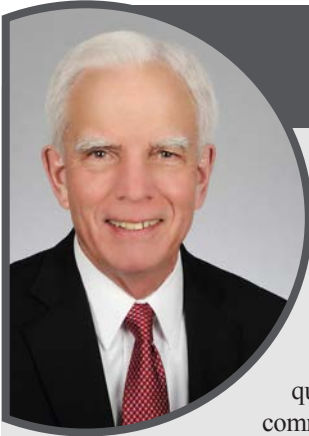

Vienna is a wonderful small town, but you already know that. You also know that our Town is under tremendous development pressures, especially along Maple Avenue, which threaten to turn our little Town into a big town, complete with six-story buildings. I don't think that's right for Vienna.

Instead, I want to be your vote on the Town Council for responsible development along Maple Avenue. You don't want buildings that are too tall or too close to the street or too dense, and neither do I. The next Council will redo the Maple Avenue Corridor ordinance and thereby set the rules for developers for the foreseeable future. I want to be part of that process. I will bring more than 16 years of service on Town boards and committees to the table, including 14 years on the Board of Architectural Review – I am currently its chairman. I will also bring my experience of living in this Town for 40 years – as a scoutmaster, a PTA board member, a Sunday School teacher, and more.

I have never been influenced by any special interest or developer, and I'm not about to start now. I will do my best to ensure that we keep our small-town atmosphere, while encouraging Maple Avenue's much-needed revival.

Back in 1980 when Sharon and I were looking for a home to share our lives, we could have settled anywhere in Northern Virginia. We chose Vienna because it was a nice little town and because we fell in love with a little house nestled amid a grove of ash, birch, and maples on Moore Avenue. Forty years later, we feel the same. I want the same for you, and I'm willing to fight for it.

Ray Brill

Candidate for Council

My family and I moved to Vienna in 2005 when I was assigned to serve as pastor at Wesley United Methodist Church. My wife, Jane, and I have lived in many places; none compares to Vienna's quality of life. The Town's community spirit and excellent services convinced us there is no place we would rather be after my retirement in 2016.

My corporate, congressional, legal, and community leadership experiences are ideally suited to issues facing the Town of Vienna. I led strategic planning sessions for Fortune 100 corporations and spent a lifetime solving difficult issues with practical, common-sense solutions. I used these experiences when I volunteered to mediate between the builder and homeowners for the 380 Maple Avenue MAC project. I am action-oriented and want to serve residents and businesses in Vienna with integrity and transparency.

I promise to:

- listen to citizens through neighborhood listening sessions
- preserve our small-town character
- support realistic growth by reducing the height and density of new projects and increasing green space
- work to improve traffic flow along Maple Avenue with a timetable for action
- address Vienna's needs for parking, pedestrian safety, and sidewalk construction
- reduce business vacancies
- support infrastructure improvements in a fiscally sound manner.

I was CEO of two corporations; chairman of the board of two non-profits – a Salvation Army Chapter and DC residence for homeless women; founding Scoutmaster, Troop 345 in Vienna; 10-year vendor at ViVa Vienna; volunteer at Lamb Center, Second Story, FACETS; and led an outreach to Wounded Warriors at Walter Reed National Military Hospital. I graduated from the Air Force Academy, served as an Air Force pilot, and earned an MBA /UCLA, JD/Florida, and MDiv/VA Theological Seminary.

I would be honored to serve you on Town Council. Vote on May 5. For more information, visit BrillForVienna.com.

Andrea Dahl

Candidate for Council

When I first moved to Vienna in 1998, I was a single professional working 60+ hours each week, traveling all over the country for a Fortune 100 company. I kept returning to the Town of Vienna for its small-town feel and sense of community.

Fast forward to today. I'm still living in the same small home in Vienna, only now I'm happily married with a husband of 14 years, two healthy children, one spoiled dog, and two furry felines.

I work as hard as ever, but now instead of negotiating $30 million rail contracts or developing corporate recycling programs nationwide, I am a full-time mom, caretaker, pet sitter, chauffeur, team parent, scout leader, cookie manager, event planner, fundraising specialist, school and community volunteer.

In everything I do, I strive to keep that small-town feel and work to build a cohesive and inclusive community.

As a Wolftrap mom and volunteer, I know how difficult it is to reserve space for community activities in Vienna. With the Tysons population booming, our parks, fields, and community space will be stretched thin – affecting the quality of life for our kids and hurting the teams, leagues, and volunteer organizations dedicated to their success. Thus, my top priority for Council is to add more parks and green space and to preserve trees and wildlife habitats whenever possible.

My other priorities include keeping our small-town feel on Maple Avenue and in our residential neighborhoods; slowing down cut-through traffic; and adding safety measures, like sidewalks and crosswalks, for pedestrians. For additional information, visit andreaforvienna.org and fvfc2020.org.

Having lived in northeast Vienna for 22 years, my friends and neighbors know me as an energetic mom who's first to volunteer for everything. This year, I'm running for Town Council, and I ask that you vote for Andrea Dahl May 5!

David Patariu

Candidate for Council

I am a practicing attorney, a Vienna dad with three young children, a parishioner at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, a planning commissioner for the Town of Vienna, and a zealous advocate for residents.

My pro-resident platform includes:

- addressing the adverse impact on traffic, schools, and neighborhoods from giant MAC building projects on Maple Avenue
- honestly examining traffic on Maple Avenue, appreciating that Maple Avenue is at capacity, and preventing further harm to the livability of our neighborhoods from cut-through traffic avoiding Maple Avenue
- restoring Beulah Road Park and prioritizing the purchase of land for parks
- making certain that the rewrite of our residential and commercial zoning code, foisted upon our Town without resident input, does not give away what makes Vienna special.

The expertise I would bring to Town Council encompasses years of academic, volunteer, and work experiences. I graduated from Cornell University with a B.A. and M.Eng. (computer science), earned a graduate degree in biomedical informatics from Stanford University Medical School, and earned a law degree from Loyola Chicago. I am admitted to and practice law in multiple states and the District of Columbia, having passed five bar exams (CA, NY, NJ, IL, TX). I have won several awards for my pro bono civil rights legal work and am experienced in handling million-dollar technology and property legal matters.

I also served on the board of a large condominium association, where I was instrumental in hiring new management, replacing the condo association attorney, negotiating better service contracts, and eliminating graft.

As an advocate for residents against those preying on our Town to make a quick buck, I frequently speak and write about issues affecting Vienna. Visit fcfv.org and davidforvienna.org to learn more, and on May 5 vote for David Patariu to keep Vienna special!

Ed Somers

Candidate for Council

My family and I live in Vienna because it is a place where you can walk to local businesses, bike on the W&OD Trail, take advantage of all that happens on the Town Green, and, most importantly, be contributing members of a vibrant community.

I have been honored to serve as a member and longtime chair of the Transportation Safety Commission. I am passionate about pedestrian and bicycle safety – having worked to ensure that safe street crossings, sidewalks, and all forms of traffic safety and congestion reduction remain a top priority for our Town.

I am also committed to sound fiscal management, environmental protection, and ensuring that any investments we make can be maintained and strengthen our community.

By listening and then building consensus, we can guide our Town's growth in a way that benefits all of Vienna, protects our neighborhoods, enhances our parks and recreational amenities, maintains public safety, and carefully develops a vibrant main street appropriate to the size and nature of our Town – to serve the residents of today, and tomorrow.

My entire professional career has been dedicated to working for local elected officials as a nonpartisan federal representative and national association executive. I have been most fortunate to learn from some of the nation's finest local leaders from cities of all sizes, and I have a vast array of friends across the country to call on for advice and counsel.

You can learn more about who I am and my priorities at facebook.com/edforvienna.

Cities and towns are where innovation takes place and where people come together with compassion and in common purpose. I hope to have the honor and privilege of applying what I have learned over the course of my personal life and professional career to the Town of Vienna – my home.

Chris Wright

Candidate for Council

I am a James Madison University alum and have called Vienna home since 2004. As a partner with a local IT firm, I have spent years building and cultivating relationships with a results-based approach that should be brought forth to our Town. My most important job is raising our two boys (who attend Vienna Elementary) with the love of my life, Calli.

Vienna has captured that small-town feel so many people desire, within 10 miles of DC. I was motivated to run for Town Council to ensure that we maintain Vienna's charm while still modernizing, not only listen to but act on our citizens' suggestions, and bring needed fresh perspective to Council.

1. In 2020, due to a lack of sidewalks, we have residential streets with young children, senior citizens, and disabled citizens who share the road with vehicles. A safer and more pedestrian-friendly community is a top priority.
2. Leveraging apps and IT can lead to a more informed community with greater involvement and engagement.
3. I encourage giving our aging buildings a facelift and actively attracting new businesses to our Town. To facilitate the diversity of our community, we need to provide opportunity for families of all socioeconomic backgrounds to call Vienna home, while carefully evaluating the impact projects will have on our roads, schools, and surrounding homes.
4. More parks and green spaces make Vienna a desirable place to live, and it is vital to our environment. Two new trees should be planted for every one that is cut down.

Vienna is "lightning in a bottle." I feel fortunate to be part of this community and to raise my family here. I'm running for Town Council to continue to move Vienna forward while preserving everything that makes Vienna special. Vote Chris Wright May 5!

Hear more from the candidates

The Town of Vienna is cooperating with the North East Vienna Citizens Association (NEVCA) and Vienna Business Association (VBA) to broadcast a Candidates Forum so that Vienna voters have an opportunity to hear from the 10 mayoral and Town Council candidates in this era of social distancing.

Broadcast of the question-and-answer forum with candidates, which is likely to be conducted electronically, is expected to begin airing April 4 and will be scheduled to run on TVCN (the Town's cable access channels - 27 on Cox and 38 on Verizon Fios) through May 5 at the following times:

- 10 am Monday
- 7 pm Wednesday
- 2 pm Saturday

At this time, the Town's election is likely to occur on May 5 as scheduled. The Fairfax County Office of Elections is required to move forward; to delay the election would require action from the governor or an order from the state Supreme Court.

Plant a tree, seed a community

In celebration of Arbor Day, join Mayor Laurie DiRocco, members of the Conservation and Sustainability Commission, and Cub Scout Pack 1116 for a ceremonial planting of a sweet bay magnolia tree at 5 pm Friday, April 24, at the Vienna Community Center. The Town welcomes special guest Urban Forest Conservationist Dr. James McGlone of the Virginia Department of Forestry, who will recognize the Town as a Tree City USA for the 19th consecutive year. 🌳

Vienna spreads the LOVE

LOVE has sprouted at Northside Park thanks to the Vienna Public Art Commission's most recent public art project and the generosity and resourcefulness of a Vienna area couple. LOVE – in the form of public art and spelled out in 6-foot letters fashioned from metal tubing – was installed last month at the park where it meets the W&OD Trail.

The seed for the idea and the homemade letters came from a local couple who prefers to remain unidentified publicly.

"It's not about us, it's about the greater picture," says the donor. "It's more about bringing the community together, not about us making a donation. We're incredibly grateful for the team of people who helped the seed become a reality."

The idea for the LOVE sign sprouted about four years ago when the donor was running regularly with a mom's group along the W&OD. She recalls that at that time there was negative energy and polarization surrounding the upcoming 2016 presidential election.

"When I was running on the trail with girlfriends, I'd share that I wanted to put a LOVE sign up in Town to announce proudly that we are a community that leads from the heart with love."

After a year of dreaming of this vision, the donor took a stroll around Town with Mayor Laurie DiRocco on one of her Friday morning walks and shared her idea about installing the sign at the Town Green. Joyfully, the mayor recommended that she work with the Public Art Commission to help bring her idea to fruition.

Over the course of the process, the recommended location for the LOVE sign became Northside Park. "I think it's a perfect location," says the donor. "It creates a new space to enjoy in Vienna."

Installation of the sign, says the donor, "makes my heart happy" and reminds her that: "Love always prevails even in all its imperfections as it stands the test of time."

"For me," says the donor, "it's about the greater sense of community." Though Vienna is located in a large metropolitan area, she adds, "when you walk around the Town, you have a real sense of small community that generates a pleasant sense of belonging."

Four years after the donor first envisioned this public art project, another presidential election is on its way and, in addition with the coronavirus pandemic, a sense that we're facing something unprecedented and uncertain looms. "We're facing uncertainty as a community," she says. "and I have a feeling that the Town of Vienna will continue to find ways to be loving and caring neighbors."

"Thank you," she adds, "to the Town of Vienna, Vienna Public Art Commission, the artists, and the community for supporting the idea of growing and sharing in this collective love."

A sign adjacent to the LOVE letters at Northside invites folks to share the love using the hashtag #LOVEVienna with their public art selfies and photos. A ribbon-cutting ceremony for Vienna's newest public art piece is scheduled for 10 am Saturday, April 18, at Northside Park. 🎉

A night at the theatre with laughs...and (gasp!) murder

by Communications Specialist Adam Kincaid

A play within a play, a blizzard, locked-room murders, and knives-out tension of distrust and suspicion make the Vienna Theatre Company's rendition of John Bishop's The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940 a production so filled to the brim with laughs that it just might kill you.

The show is scheduled to play at 8 pm Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25 and May 1, 2, 8, and 9. Matinee performances take place at 2 pm Sunday, April 26 and May 3 and 10. Tickets are $15 each and may be purchased online at viennava.gov/webtrac or in person at the community center. Be sure to check viennatheatrecompany.org for possible schedule updates.

The period piece, written in 1987, zooms in on the creative team responsible for a recent Broadway flop in which three chorus girls were murdered by the mysterious Stage Door Slasher. The team has assembled at a Westchester estate for a backer's audition of its new show. The house is replete with sliding panels, secret passageways, and a German maid who apparently is four different people – all of whom figure diabolically in the comic mayhem that follows when the infamous Slasher makes his reappearance and strikes again.

"This play is near and dear to my heart," says Director Barbara Carpenter. "I was lucky enough to be cast in this show – twice. You just can't go wrong with a show that is full of such rich, diverse characters. We're hoping the Vienna community will enjoy them as much as the actors and production staff do."

Carpenter promises multiple fights, faints, chases, chaos, and, of course, a really good time.

"The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940 is a fast-paced, hysterical whodunnit that audiences will love," says Carpenter. "These are characters who will capture their hearts and tickle their funny bones. And who doesn't love a fun evening at the theatre?" 🎭

Pedal, walk, or roll caboose to caboose to discover two towns in one day

by Communications Specialist Adam Kincaid

The towns of Vienna and Herndon are hosting a dual event that takes participants on a 16.6-mile round trip along the W&OD Trail and into the heart of the two towns where they can enjoy promotions being offered by business partners.

The two Towns have partnered with NOVA Parks for the May 2 Caboose-to-Caboose event for which bragging rights are on the line: The Town with the most registrants will be awarded the Mayor's Cup. This active event is open from 9 am-3 pm, and registrants can participate on their own timeframe and at their own pace.

"The towns and NOVA Parks have a great relationship and have often talked about doing a joint event," says Amy-Jo Hendrix, recreation program supervisor. "Both Vienna and Herndon have cabooses, the W&OD trail goes through our towns, and we both have local businesses that are important to us. We want to encourage families and friends to visit each town and enjoy using the W&OD by bike, foot, or rollerblade."

Several specials and raffles are being provided by participating business partners.

Town of Vienna partners include:

- Ben and Jerry's – raffle of three $25 gift cards

- Caboose Brewing Company – raffle of a beer tasting for four and happy hour prizes
- Cocoa Vienna – raffle of 15-piece box of chocolates and 10% off during event

- Fisher Custom Homes – raffle of four Washington Nationals tickets

- Freeman Store – $25 gift card raffle
- Great Harvest Bread Company – free cookie day of event
- Vienna Business Association – snack on day of event

While information about offers was unavailable at press time, Town of Herndon partners include:

- Anita's New Mexican Restaurant
- Elden Tea Shop
- Great Harvest Bread Company
- Green Lizard Cycling
- Jimmy's Old Town Tavern

This event is open to all ages. Tickets are $18 for participants who are 16 and older and $10 for participants 15 and younger; tickets are available online at viennava.gov/webtrac. The first 200 registered participants will receive a t-shirt representing their Town, blue for Vienna and red for Herndon. Sign up today and help Vienna take home the first Caboose-to-Caboose Mayor's Cup! 🍷

Walk on the Hill shines on Windover

by Communications Specialist Adam Kincaid

The 2020 edition of Walk on the Hill showcases historic homes in the Windover Heights District with a new focus on native plants.

"Green Hedges School, one of our longtime partners for Walk on the Hill, often goes under-looked," says Rebecca Gottfried, 2020 Walk on the Hill organizer, "but the grounds at the school have more than 200 native plants that we would like to highlight this year."

In addition to the enticing gathering of gardeners at Green Hedges, visitors are welcome to take a self-guided tour through many of the district's lovely, landscaped gardens from 2-5 p.m. Sunday, April 26.

Scenery for the eye: Check. Sounds for the ear: Quadruple check. Walk on the Hill visitors will be treated by several local musical groups in the forms of:

- Green Hedges Band at 2 pm at 415 Windover Avenue NW
- Vienna Community Band at 3 pm at 288 Windover Avenue NW
- DC Different Drummers Jazz Band at 4 pm at 288 Windover Avenue NW
- Hickory Grove will play throughout the event on the porch of the historic cabin at 223 Walnut Lane.

Walk on the Hill is free and open to the public. Windover residents will provide punch and cookies.

Parking may be found at Green Hedges School as well as Vienna Arts Society, 243 Church Street NW. Walk on the Hill is a rain or shine event. 🍷

Many voices heard at March Community Conversation

About 100 people attended the Town's March 2 Community Conversation meeting. More than two dozen speakers shared feedback on:

- Councilmember Nisha Patel's proposal to increase outdoor living space
- recommended near and mid-term priorities from the Maple Avenue Corridor Multimodal Transportation and Land Use Study.

In addition, several individuals spoke during the open discussion segment of the evening.

Nearly 20 speakers raised their voices both in support and opposition to the outdoor living space proposal, which would provide some level of coverage expansion for uses such as expanded driveways, screened porches, and patios in exchange for implementation of stormwater management systems that meet current standards. Others raised issues and suggested modifications to the proposal.

Among concerns raised by those who are not in favor of expanding outdoor living spaces were:

- exacerbation of existing drainage problems
- loss of trees and green space
- increase in house sizes.

Those speaking in favor of the initiative talked about:

- challenges for properties with detached garages and smaller lots
- the difficulty of the existing variance process
- the Town's outdated zoning regulations.

As the outdoor living space conversation came to a close, Patel suggested that feedback and suggestions provided through the evening and via feedback surveys that were available during the week following the Community Conversation would be shared with the consultant that will be hired to help the Town revise and update its zoning code, which has not been significantly updated since 1969. That consultant is expected to be hired this spring; the update process, which could take 18-24 months, will include additional opportunities for community engagement.

Another 10 speakers asked questions and provided feedback on projects recommended through the Maple Avenue Multimodal Transportation Study. The final report of the study, along with information about staff's and the community's most highly recommended priorities as well as results from the outdoor living space questionnaire, were scheduled to be presented to Council at its April 13 meeting.

In closing out the Community Conversation, about a half dozen individuals spoke during the open conversation period, asking questions or adding feedback on the previous topics or sharing other questions and concerns, including about clean up after automobile crashes and drainage concerns related to the new police station. 📢

Signed detours will reroute traffic via Cottage Street, Gallows Road, and Lee Highway.

The goal, notes Nancy Smith, public relations manager with FAM Construction, "is to demolish and rebuild the bridge as quickly as possible to minimize impact to the surrounding community and to those traveling on I-66."

Project representatives acknowledge that some of the impacts from the bridge closure in this most congested part of the Outside the Beltway corridor will be, well, temporarily painful – and Vienna drivers and neighbors are likely to see more vehicles – and police presence – on some Town roads.

- Traffic engineers have collected traffic data and analyzed travel patterns and found that about two-thirds of travelers using the Cedar Lane bridge are regional travelers. Traffic models show that these drivers will disperse to other regional routes.
- The signed detour will divert local traffic to Gallows Road.
- In order to ease the transition to the new travel patterns, the project team is planning a robust public outreach program that will include a variety of communication methods.
- Traffic may take a few days to adjust to the new travel patterns – and this timeframe may be challenging as everyone adjusts to new patterns and routes.

- Patience is requested, and mitigation strategies, including adjusting signal timing, will be employed as needed.
- The bridge demolition also will be a noisy process that takes place mostly overnight. The project team notes, though, that it will be noisy for less time with the six-month option.
- Rerouting of Fairfax Connector routes 462 and 467 will be necessary, and expanded hours will be implemented to include additional mid-day and weekend hours. Details were still being ironed out as this newsletter went to press.

Other efforts related to the Transform 66 project in the Vienna area include:

- construction of a new Gallows Road bridge, which is currently underway
- construction of a new Vaden Drive bridge, which is anticipated to be completed in September
- temporary ramps and signals to be installed this summer on Nutley Street; these changes won't affect continuity on Nutley Street, but will result in different traffic patterns.

Residents can find more information and sign up for alerts and updates at outside.transform66.org. 📢

Delicious event serves up community

With more than 20 food vendors, a handful of musical performers, and an increase in local food truck participation, no matter what your pallet craves, the 2020 Taste of Vienna will satisfy.

The Vienna Volunteer Fire Department (VVFD) sets the table for the ninth annual Taste of Vienna from 11 am-8 pm Saturday, April 25, in the VVFD parking lot. Admission to the event is free; guests may purchase food as well as beer and wine. A moon bounce and face painting for children will be available.

“We wanted to increase local participation within the Vienna restaurant community,” says Vienna Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary member Joan Dempsey, “so we have added a few more local favorites. These kinds of fundraisers benefit the entire community, so we want everyone in Vienna – those who live here and those who feed people here – to come together and support one another.”

Taste of Vienna is not just a great opportunity for everyone to enjoy themselves. “With the proceeds,” says Dempsey, “we buy new equipment, afford training, and keep technology up to date.

“I recall during our first Taste,” Dempsey adds, “[then] Mayor [Jane] Seeman was thrilled by all the fun and different sections of the community coming together to benefit all, and she asked if this was going to be an annual event, and I replied, ‘Absolutely!’”

Get green, clean information, tips from environmental experts at Green Expo

More than 35 local, Earth-friendly exhibitors offering expertise on living a green life will help the Conservation and Sustainability Commission commemorate 50 years of Earth Day and environmental awareness at the Town’s Green Expo from 7-9 pm Thursday, April 23. This event is free and open to the public.

Here are some event highlights that attendees can anticipate information and displays about:

- recycling in Vienna and the Town’s upcoming composting pilot program
- homes designed for net-zero energy and electric school buses that can transport students without polluting (yes, they are coming to Fairfax County Public Schools)
- the Solarize Vienna program through which residents can take advantage of home energy efficiency check-ups and significant federal tax credits for installing solar panels
- James Madison High School students’ active role in their futures, both in school and as part of the National Climate Strike advocacy
- supporting pollinators and native plants in home gardens and organic lawn care
- low volatile organic compound (VOC) paints and energy-efficient HVAC systems, including geothermal. 📍

Solarize Vienna 2020

There’s never been a better time to go solar - really!

by Susan Stillman, Conservation and Sustainability Commission

SOLARIZENOVA

Solarize Vienna is back for 2020 and better than ever. Did you know that Vienna’s zip code, 22180, has the greatest number of solar installations in the SolarizeNoVA program? Let’s keep growing solar in our community!

In 2020, in addition to solar systems with pre-negotiated prices and terms, the Solarize program will offer electric vehicle chargers and energy efficiency check-ups.

This year the federal investment tax credit is 26% of the cost of your solar system; the federal credit drops to 22% in 2021. For electric vehicle charging systems, the tax credit is 30% up to $1,000 in 2020. There’s never been a better time to go solar! For additional details, check out SolarizeNoVA.org.

To make your home as comfortable and energy efficient as possible, free home energy assessments are being offered to Solarize participants. New this year, and included with the assessment, is a blower door test and discovery of air leaks using an infrared camera.

You can learn more about SolarizeNoVA and discuss solar systems with selected installers at the community forum to be held from 7-9 pm April 21 in Council Chambers at Town Hall. 📍

The April 2005 Town newsletter reported that Vienna Police Det. Tina Brook (now Elias), who still works for the Vienna PD, currently in investigations, received a Valor Award, presented by the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce and Board of Supervisors, for her "selfless actions and exceptional judgment during an emergency situation, which resulted in the preservation of a human life." Along with two Fairfax County police officers, Brook was able to speak calmly and encourage eye contact with a 16-year-old girl who was standing dangerously close to the edge of the top level of the Vienna Metro parking lot and repeating that she wanted to die. While Brook spoke with and distracted the girl, the other officers were able to get close enough to grab her and pull her away from the edge.

HAPPENINGS around town

Editor's note: Due to coronavirus concerns, some of these events may have been canceled. Be sure to check the organization's websites for updated information.

Art instructor Elaine Florimonte will demonstrate her studio practice while painting a landscape in acrylics as an example of how art happens. This free demonstration will take place from 7-9:30 pm Thursday, April 8, at the Vienna Art Center, 243 Church Street NW. For more information, visit ViennaArtsSociety.org or call 703-319-3971.

Ambassador Cynthia Akuetteh will present on Women, Peace, and Security from 1:30-3 pm

Saturday, April 18, at the Patrick Henry Library.

Drawing on her career with the Peace Corps and State Department,

Akuetteh will speak about how war, violence, peacemaking, and trade and energy issues affect people around the world. The presentation is part of the April program of the American Association of University Women, which is co-sponsoring the event with the Patrick Henry Library. The event is free and open to the public. Doors open at 1:30 pm for light refreshments with the program beginning at 2.

The Vienna Elementary 5K and Run for Fun takes off Saturday, April 26. The one-mile Fun Run begins at 8:10 am, and the 5K starts around 8:35 am, both from Vienna Elementary, 128 Center Street S. Age group awards will be presented, and race festivities include a rock-and-roll warm-up, awards ceremony, and post-race refreshments. Registration is $30 (after March 31) and available at vienna5k.racewire.com.

As part of Walk on the Hill festivities, the Ayr Hill Garden Club will host a flower show from 2-5 pm Sunday, April 26, at 307 Windover Avenue NW. The theme of the flower show, which will feature beautiful garden horticulture and lovely floral arrangements, is "Celebrating Earth Day." The show is free and open to the public.

While at Walk on the Hill April 26, take a stroll down the hill to the nearby Vienna Art Center at 243 Church Street NW where a sidewalk exhibition of Vienna Arts Society members' original artworks will be featured.

Free hands-on art activities for children also will be available from 2-5 pm. Call 703-319-3971 for more information.

The Town of Vienna Community Band will perform at Walk on the Hill at 3 pm Saturday, April 26, at 288 Windover Avenue. In addition, the band is looking for enthusiastic musicians – especially those who play flute, clarinet, bassoon, oboe, tuba, or euphonium. If interested, attend any 6:15 pm rehearsal Sundays at the Vienna Community Center. For more information, visit viennacommunityband.org.

YOU play a crucial role in the Vienna Art Society's newest community project. Vienna citizens of all ages are invited to submit illustrations and poems related to kindness as well as short prose descriptions of acts of kindness experienced in the Town of Vienna as part of Vienna Art Society's The Art of Kindness project. The project will culminate in an art show October 24 and 25 at the Vienna Community Center that includes these public submissions as an integral part of the event. Submissions may be made via ViennaArtsSociety.org or placed in the Kindness Boxes that will be scattered throughout Town through September 30.

It's budget season and you can put in your 2¢

Public hearings related to the Town of Vienna's fiscal year 2020-21 budget, proposed water and sewer rates, and proposed tax rate are currently scheduled for April 13 and 27. A final Council work session related to the budget is scheduled for April 20. Please be sure to check the Town's online calendar for any updates to this schedule and information about social-distancing strategies.

Due to the uncertainty of impacts of coronavirus on Fairfax County operations and resources, Hunter Mill Supervisor Walter Alcorn has postponed budget town halls "until we have a better picture of where we stand with county projections for revenue and expenditures in [fiscal year] 2021." The town halls will be rescheduled as soon as it is appropriate. In the meantime, comments and questions about Fairfax County's budget may be emailed to huntermill@fairfaxcounty.gov. Information about the county's proposed FY21 budget can be found at fairfaxcounty.gov/budget/advertised-budget-plan. 🗳️
