newsies – boys and girls who sold newspapers on the street – went up against two newspaper publishers, Joseph Pulitzer of the "New York World" and William Randolph Hearst of the "New York Journal," to fight for the chance to earn a livable wage. Newsies takes this real, life-changing event to the stage with an explosion of energetic music and dance. "Newsies" is presented through special arrangement with Music Theatre International (MTI). All authorized performance materials are also supplied by MTI. For more information and to purchase tickets, visit www.viennava.gov/theatre or call 703-255-6360.

W&OD Trail Detour Ahead

The W&OD Trail is a great way to get around on foot or by bike. Starting in mid-July, portions of the W&OD Trail in Vienna will be closed at times and trail users will be rerouted to enable Dominion Energy to replace wires and upgrade the electrical transmission system between the utility’s Clark and Idylwood substations. The updates along the four-mile stretch are needed to meet the region’s growing energy needs. The Vienna portion of this project is expected to be completed by the end of 2024, and the second phase of the project, east of the Town of Vienna, is expected to begin in early 2025. Schedules are subject to change.

For the latest information, visit www.DominionEnergy.com/clarkidylwood. If you have questions about the project, email powerline@dominionenergy.com or call 888-291-0190. 📞

Just Passing Through

How far would you walk for world peace? Well, just ask these Buddhist monks! The now-famous group of seven is walking from Key West, Florida to Niagara Falls, New York to promote world peace. And, of all the places to pass through, they decided to pay a visit to Vienna on their travels from Aldi, Va. to Washington D.C. in May.

As they stopped at the Vienna Community Center to rest, town residents welcomed the monks by treating them to food, water and other gifts. A few Vienna students shared greetings and gifts of peace with the special visitors. By the time the monks reached Vienna, they had already walked 59 days, covering between 20-30 miles per day.

The group of seven is led by 62-year-old Sutham Nateetong. For him and his counterparts this journey is all about the people. “Meeting all of the people is the best thing so far,” said Nateetong. “The people give us the power to carry on and continue our journey for world peace.” Once the monks left Vienna, they were on their way to Washington, D.C.

The group was set to reach its destination by June 30, 2024. At press time for this Vienna Voice issue, the monks were on schedule, passing through Pennsylvania and part of New York, having walked approximately 1,700 miles and counting. 📍

Farewell Old Friend!

Generations of community members bid farewell to the beloved, yet broken merry-go-round at Meadow Lane Park on Tuesday, June 11. All the kids and kids-at-heart who showed up for this “celebration of life” seemed to appreciate one last opportunity to enjoy a snack with friends by the decades-old, memory-making spinning machine.

“Great send off,” wrote Andrea Burrows in response to the Town’s Facebook post about the event. “My husband has many fond memories of flying off this thing.”

“This is amazing and one of the many reasons I love this town,” wrote Michelle Lyn White. “I love that they took the time to acknowledge decades of memories that occurred on this piece of playground equipment. The nostalgia is strong.”

“I love Vienna,” wrote Lynn Kuba. “Thanks for a well-deserved memorial service.”

For safety reasons, there were no last rides on the sentimental favorite, which was installed in the 1980s and had aged beyond repair. Attendees were invited to leave a goodbye note, and then they threw flowers on the merry-go-round and thanked it for all the spins. While this structure has reached its final days, a new and improved one will be installed. It won’t be exactly the same, but parks and recreation staff will do their best to find a ride that’s reminiscent of this classic feature. 📌

Marlin’s on a Mission

The Town of Vienna Police Department welcomed a new furry, four-legged employee this May: Marlin!

This Vienna Police Department facility dog recently graduated from an intensive training program at “Mutts with a Mission” along with his handler, Vienna Police detective Marcos Herrera. The organization trains service dogs for disabled veterans, first responders, and law enforcement officers at no cost to the recipients.

Ever since Marlin’s graduation, he’s been hard at work attending department meetings, gearing up for shooting activities, working with the Town’s dispatch officers, and visiting with local students and community members.

“Marlin provides comfort to everyone he meets, but especially police officers, community members, and people worried about testifying in court who are dealing with life’s stress and anxiety,” said Vienna police officer Juan Vazquez. “Marlin’s a great addition to the community and we’re excited to have him on our team.”

Marlin is specifically trained to maintain composure in challenging circumstances, and he can turn any stressful or traumatic situation around for the better. He is also tasked with engaging in outreach initiatives to foster a positive rapport between law enforcement and the community.

“Ruff” times are no match for this intelligent pup. So, if you are facing a stressful situation, never fear; Marlin is here! Stop by the Vienna Police Department to say hello, and follow Marlin’s journey and new career with VPD on his Instagram @marlins_mission. 📌

Word From Juan

Criminals Now Use Bitcoin to Steal Your Money

One common new scam involves converting large amounts of cash into a type of digital currency (cryptocurrency) like Bitcoin. Criminals will convince their victims to withdraw or transfer cash into digital currency wallets through Bitcoin ATMs or digital apps, and they use a multitude of stories to convince their victims:

- You have a warrant for your arrest unless you pay us!
- Your family member is in trouble and can't pay their lawyer unless you send money now!
- Invest in Bitcoin – I can be your financial advisor and handle the details for you!
- Oops, we deposited too much money into your account but it's okay, you can just send it back to us!

We're here to tell you, IT'S A SCAM!

But what's behind the scam? Why digital currency? What is digital currency? If these questions cross your mind, this article is for you.

Overly simplified, cryptocurrency is a decentralized (not regulated by a government or entity) currency system whose value is similar to the stock market. Instead of a product or service backing the stock value, it's the user's belief in a currency that isn't monitored by a government. While still a risky venture, blockchain technology is what gives it stability. The blockchain, a public ledger that forever tracks cryptocurrencies existence and movement, exists in multiple locations simultaneously so that it cannot be successfully counterfeited. Users can exchange cryptocurrency for goods and services with other people or businesses who also believe in its value. Because of the fraud and nefarious criminal uses associated with cryptocurrency, it has a poor reputation with many people.

The bottom line that owning cryptocurrency comes with a lot of risk. Unless you are seeking it out and have sufficiently educated yourself about it, there is little to no legitimate reason anyone should be asking you for it. 📌

Town Attains Wildlife Habitat Certification

For the eighth year, the Town of Vienna has earned the distinction of being certified as a Community Wildlife Habitat by the National Wildlife Federation (NWF). The honor is presented to communities that take exceptional action to preserve, enhance, restore, and connect wildlife habitats while also communicating the importance of habitat stewardship to the public.

To be certified each year, communities must accumulate at least 30 points through a variety of activities. Points can be earned by having property owners in Town certify their yards with the NWF as providing wildlife with food, water, shelter, and places to raise their young and by conducting qualified community activities. Multiple property owners received certifications this year, and the Town of Vienna earned points by passing its Tree Preservation Ordinance, running a booth at the Vienna Green Expo to educate residents about the program and the importance of backyard habitats to local bird and pollinator populations, removing invasive species, planting native trees on Town properties, and having a program team member on the Town's Conservation and Sustainability Commission (CSC) among other activities.

The Town of Vienna was initially certified as an NWF Community Wildlife Habitat in 2016, which ties in with the Town's strategic plan goal of being an environmentally sustainable community. The mission of the NWF is to unite all Americans to ensure wildlife thrive in a rapidly changing world. To learn how to earn the distinction for your property, visit <https://certifiedwildlifehabitat.nwf.org>. 📌

How to Help Inform Town Council Decisions

BY COUNCILMEMBER JESSICA RAMAKIS

In my time on the Vienna Town Council, communicating well with our community has been a priority. Sharing information about Council meeting topics and learning how community members feel about those issues are key in making decisions in the best interest of our town. Here are some ways you can connect with Council and stay informed:

- Email: If you are interested in a particular issue or have a question or idea, email the full Council at Council@viennava.gov. You can also email individual Council members via the email addresses in the Contact Vienna section of this newsletter.
- Phone calls: To leave a message for Council, contact the Town Clerk's office at 703-255-6304.
- Town Council Meetings: Residents may speak to the full Council during public comment time at the beginning of every regular Town Council meeting. Meetings are generally held two Mondays per month at 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall, and you can speak about any issue that is not on the evening's agenda. All Town public meeting dates, agendas, materials, minutes, and recordings are posted online at <https://bit.ly/TOVmeetings>. You can filter by month or year, and by Town Council, Boards, and Commissions.
- Town Council Work Sessions: Work sessions involve more informal discussion and presentations, formal votes are not taken at work sessions and there is no public comment during the meeting, but the meetings are open to the public and there may be an opportunity for community members to speak with a Councilmember during breaks.
- Public hearings: The Town holds public hearings if a major issue is under consideration, like the Town Budget, setting the tax rate, or a change to the Zoning Code. If there are upcoming hearings, they will be posted here: www.viennava.gov/hearings.

In addition to communicating with Council, I encourage you to get connected with the Town's information channels. All Town residents receive the monthly Vienna Voice newsletter in the mail. For weekly updates, sign up for the Vienna Happenings weekly e-newsletter at www.viennava.gov/happenings. For emergency messages, sign up to receive Vienna Alerts text and email messages at www.viennava.gov/alerts. And check the Town's Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and YouTube channels @TownofViennaVA for daily updates.

Finally, look for the signs around town that advertise current projects or events and include a QR code. Just scan the code with your smart phone, and it will connect you to the Town web page for current information about those initiatives.

We look forward to hearing from you! 📣

Mayor's Pet of the Month

Meet Rena! This three and a half Weimaraner is a lively companion to her retired owners and the entire family. She has a great disposition/temper and loves everyone she meets (people and animals alike, though maybe not foxes and cats). Not only is she a curious pup who loves to explore the woods on her twice-a-day walks, she keeps the neighborhood kids entertained and is super smart. This lovable pup has a vocabulary of about 60 words.

Congratulations, Rena! You're the Mayor's Pet of the Month! 🐾

Nominations for Mayor's Pet of the Month are accepted on an ongoing basis. To nominate your pet, send an email to Mayor@viennava.gov with your pet's name, type of pet (please be specific), a photo of your pet, and three reasons why you think your animal should be recognized.
